The Daily Courant.

Saturday, December 8. 1705.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated December 1.

Tykoczin, November 5.

THE firſt of this Month, at 9 a Clock at Night, King Auguſtus arriv'd here, and took up his Lodging in the Houſe of the Vice Chancellor of the Kingdom. The next Day the Senators and other Perſons of Quality waited on his Majeſty and congratulated him on his Arrival; they were all receiv'd by him with great Expreſſions of Affection and Eſteem: And after his Majeſty had commended their Loyalty and Stedfaſtneſs, he honour'd them with a new Order of Knighthood, the Badge of which is a White Eagle enamel'd on Gold, with a Crown of Diamonds, having on the Reverſe theſe Words, Pro Fide, Lege, & Rege. The Senators had given them a larger Badge, viz. a Croſs, in the middle of which is the Eagle with the Crown and the ſame Inſcription, all enrich'd with Diamonds: They are to wear this at the End of a blue Ribbon hung over the Shoulder, and the leſſer Badge hanging at their Breaſt. This Ceremony being over, the King went to meet the Czar, who came from Nur; at their Meeting they imbrac'd each other with great Joy. The Czar caus'd the Spoils taken from the Enemy, and the Colours taken at Praag, to be laid at the King's Feet. Both Monarchs went to the Cloyſter of the Bernardins, where the King has his Reſidence: The Vice-Chancellor treated them very ſplendidly, and with them the Czar's Miniſters, the Palatin of Inowroclavia, the Caſtellan of Poſnania and other Poliſh Noblemen. The 3d the King went to the Caſtle where the Czar is lodg'd, and at his Requeſt diſpos'd of the Archbiſhoprick of Gneſna to the Biſhop of Cujavia, and the Biſhoprick of Cujavia to the Referendarius of Lithuania. Yeſterday his Czariſh Majeſty treated at Dinner the King and all the Senators; and to Day their Majeſties took a Review of the Muſcovite Army.

The Repartition of Winter-quarters made by the Czar is as follows, I. The main Body of the Foot ſhall Quarter about Grodno, and ſhall be ſubſiſted with the Quantity of Proviſions regulated, II. The reſt of the Infantry ſhall Quarter in Tycoczin and its Neighbourhood, III. The Muſcovite Horſe ſhall extend from Auguſtow to Pultow, in the Places appointed for their Quarters. IV. The Troops of Lithuania ſhall Quarter at Brzeze, and in the Diſtricts of Livens and Chmielnick. V. Thoſe of the Capitanerie of Gneſna in the Diſtrict of Drokycz. VI. The Saxon Army in the Palatinats of Lublin, Sandomir, and the Diſtrict of Samborz. VII. The Coſſacks in the Palatinat of Belz, and in the Territory of Chelm. VIII. The Troops of the Generals of the Kingdom, in the Palatinats of Podolia and Braclaw. IX. Thoſe of the Reſendarius in the Palatinat of Ruſſia. X, And thoſe of the Marſhal of the Confederate Army in the Palatinat of Volhinia.

From the Harlem Courant, dated December 1.

Cracow, November 18. The 14th and 16th Inſtant the Swedes march'd from hence for Warſaw, after having exacted heavy Contributions of this City. Letters from Dantzick ſay the Magiſtrates had receiv'd no Anſwer from the King of Pruſſia about the 500 Foot of his Majeſty's Troops which they deſire to take into their Service. 'Tis rumour'd King Staniſlaus has by a ſecret Treaty mortgag'd the Poliſh Pruſſia to the King of Sweden for 15 Millions of Florins; but 'tis not known whether Dantzig is included in that Mortgage or not. Whether this be true time will diſcover.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated December 1.

Warſaw, November 13. King Staniſlaus came hither Yeſterday from the King of Sweden's Quarters at Blonia, where a Council was held to conſult what Meaſures are beſt to take againſt the Czar of Muſcovy's and King Auguſtus's Troops. The Marſhal of the Confederacy of Warſaw, is likewiſe return'd from Blonia; but 'tis not yet known what Anſwer he has brought concerning Contributions, and ſome Points relating to Religion. 'Tis uncertain yet in what Place the Diet of Pacification will be held. Grodno was pitch'd upon, but it ſeems the adverſe Party have call'd a General Diet to meet there the 18th of December next.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated December 1.

Letters from Saxony of the 25th of November adviſe, that the Czar has promis'd to augment his Army conſiderably this Winter; and that King Auguſtus will augment his Saxon Troops. The Saxon Army that is on the Frontier of Luſatia is ſeparating, but will be quarter'd in ſuch a manner, that they may draw together in 3 or 4 Days, if it be neceſſary to make Head againſt the Swedes that are canton'd about Meſericz.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated December 8.

Warſaw, November 20. The 17th of this Month, the Swediſh and Poliſh Commiſſioners met, to conclude the Treaty between the 2 Nations, which was abſolutely agreed, and order'd to be ingroſs'd. Two Copies of the Articles were ſign'd by the 2 Secretaries; and exchang'd by the Commiſſioners of both Parties. 'Tis reported the Article propos'd by the Swedes in Favour of the Proteſtants is left in Suſpence; that there will be no diſmembring of any Province; that the Demands of the City of Dantzick of certain Reſtitutions they claim, are annull'd; and that the Pretentions of the Republick for the Damages ſuſtain'd from the Swedes, and vice verſa, are to be ſuperſeded by a mutual general Amneſty. We have Advice from Sokolha by Letters of the 13th Inſtant, that King Auguſtus is gone with the Czar to Grodno, after having put a ſtrong Garriſon into Tykoczin, and diſpos'd the Muſcovites into Quarters as far as the Bug.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated December 11.

Letters from Poland of the 27th of laſt Month adviſe, that the King of Sweden had given Audience to the Pruſſian General Slippenbach, but 'twas not known on what Subject. The Czar was at Grodno the 21ſt, had taken a Review of the Army with King Auguſtus, and a Council of War was to be held between them the 24th. The Plague rages ſtill in Lemberg, and is ſpread into other Places.

From the Harlem Courant, dated December 8.

Hamburg, December 4. We have Advice from Poland,
